Write Over Here: Screenwriting Residency Fall 2022

Indigenous Arts | Online & In-Person

Program Information:

Write Over Here is a three-week hybrid screenwriting residency that invites participants to focus on tools to create the time and space to write from home and at Banff Centre through online and in-person programming. Participants will meet with the faculty team, online for the first week and on campus for the following two weeks. Here, the cohort will meet for daily gatherings, share readings, attend workshops, and have deeper discussions around their process. Writers will deepen their screenwriting artistry and technical application through faculty mentorship, podcast workshops, access to screenwriting software, group discussions, and Q&A sessions.
